

REDGRAVE, Creta Cameron (nee Christian) September 13, 1924 – March 31, 2015 Creta Redgrave died peacefully on March 31, 2015 following a brief hospitalization. Born on September 13, 1924 in Victoria, BC she is predeceased by her husband Bob in 2003. Creta is survived by her three children; Rob, Susan (Ray), and Christie (Calvin); eight grandchildren Torrie (Lorraine), Nicholas (Lea), Jessica (Jordan), Christina (Derek), Robynn, Rachel, Tamara, and Natasha; three great-grandchildren Sienna, Ryker, and Emilie. Creta will be missed by relatives and friends. Creta and Bob were married in Victoria in 1950 when Bob returned from the war. In 1952 they built the family home on Judge Place, where Creta resided until two weeks prior to her death. Boating was long a passion for Creta and Bob and gave rise to many wonderful family memories. Creta was outgoing and friendly and always lived life to the fullest. She was known as a fine host and graciously welcomed people into her home. Many summer days were spent relaxing on the sundeck around the pool. Creta was a longtime member of St. Aidan's United Church where she was active for many years, working in the church thrift shop and Christmas bazaar. A celebration of Creta's life will be held at St. Aidan's United Church on Monday, April 13, 2015, at 2:00 p.m. with Reverend Greg Darjes officiating. A reception will follow at St. Aidan's Church. In lieu of flower, donations may be made to a charity of choice.

Published in Victoria Times Colonist from Apr. 11 to Apr. 12, 2015