

David Lawrence Work (1958)

David Lawrence Work has finished his last flight in his 85th year and will be sorely missed by the love of his life, Karen (née MacWilliam), his wife of 58 years. Also mourning are his three sons and their spouses, Andrew and Alisha, Jeffrey and Madelaine, and Fraser and Gillian and David's grandchildren, Krister (and wife Jessica), Cameron, Victoria, Charlotte and Arwen.

Graduating from Victoria High School, he listed his "Ambition" as "Fly with the R.C.A.F." He did join the Royal Canadian Air Force and eventually flew the iconic F-86 Sabre jet. Like many of his peers, he advanced to a career as an airline pilot and flew for decades with Air Canada, retiring as a check pilot on the Boeing 747. His passions were legion; he was an avid and skilled hunter, fisherman, sailor, golfer and curler.

From his loving wife:

Fly on, my love, to whatever awaits you

Your course was always true.
